

Hi Abby:

I love the layout and overall style for this website. I think that you really get my point of creating a virtual gallery or portfolio of Escher. The color theme really fits into Escher's drawing style. It also seems consistent with the sans serif type that you choose. Overall I really love what you have made and it's basically achieved my expectation for this website. Here are just a few suggestions that I have:

- For the title, the kerning of "The Life and Works of" is a little bit small. As you are using italic style, I feel like the words are huddled together.
- For Escher's self-portrait on the second page, it does not have a caption underneath it.
- I feel like the navigation is not noticeable enough. You may try to enlarge the font size or change the color, right now the bold character does not have that much contrast.

Overall, this is a really great draft and hope the previous suggestions will help you to finish it! Thank you.
